About Colorado Preservation, Inc.

The mission of Colorado Preservation, Inc. (CPI), founded in 1984, is to promote historic preservation in the state by providing information, education, training, expertise, and advocacy. Our mission is achieved by partnering with historic property owners, non-profit organizations, educators, and local governments. Through CPI's signature initiatives like Colorado's Most Endangered Places and the Preservation Services Program, we work with the public to identify and protect some of the state's most important, yet threatened, places. CPI provides essential training and networking opportunities to individuals working to protect our state's heritage through our annual Saving Places Conference.
